"I Do My House Work in Ten Minutes"

This is what a pretty and prominent suffragist told the New York newspapers, but she did not go into details sufficiently to show the average woman how to do likewise.

This age of labor-saving devices has witnessed great advances when such things are possible.

Wise women nowadays plan their work with the skill of efficiency engineers and they make free use of the many modern inventions.

One of the greatest modern labor savers is advertising in the live daily newspapers like the EAST OREGONIAN.

It is the short cut to accurate and thrifty buying. It tells where to go and what to avoid.

It gives the market quotations. It tells what is new and useful.

Nowadays a woman who would formerly spend half a day "shopping around" can run through her favorite newspaper and make up her mind as to just where she wants to go for the article she desires.

A few minutes of real shopping time is consumed instead of half a day.

PEOPLE CAN DIE ALMOST ANY WAY NOW IN OHIO

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 12.—You can die in Ohio without having the doctor attach a fancy medical name to your death certificate. Dr. A. C. Holland, of the State Bureau of Vital Statistics, is authority for this statement.

"He lived several years beyond his natural life and then just petered out," read a death certificate from Washington county. Another said: "He just faded away."

"Death came by the visitation of God in a natural way" was a Jefferson county contribution. A Pike county man died from "A post-mortem hemorrhage." Cleveland sent in a certificate which read: "Strangled on Sunday." Another one went into details. It read: "Died suddenly in the basement. History and appearance, heart disease. Contributory cause, possibly sewer gas."

As the state spends thousands of dollars a year classifying causes of deaths, Dr. Holland today was busy returning the certificates for a more specific explanation.

BOOTHBLACK NEAR DEATH WHILE SAVING HIS COIN

CENTRALIA, Wash., Feb. 12.—Late Monday afternoon an overheated stove in a boothblack stand caused a bad fire in the building owned by Julius Koch on North Tower avenue. Before water could be turned on the blaze the flames had eaten their way into Lampman & Son's grocery, the stock being badly damaged by water. A Greek boothblack was nearly overcome by smoke in trying to salvage some money from his cash drawer.

CONVICT DONNELLY CAME TO PENDLETON

NEGRO SAYS THAT HE SUCCEEDED IN STEALING TWO GUNS IN THIS CITY.

EVERETT, Wash., Feb. 12.—Mike Donnelly, the Whatcom county murderer, who escaped from the state penitentiary at Walla Walla last fall and was captured on the street here Tuesday night, told of his experiences since he escaped from prison during a dust storm.

"After I got away from the pen," said Donnelly, "I walked down town in Walla Walla, looking for a hardware store that I could rob and get a gun. I didn't get any chance so I stole a rifle and a shotgun. As I was walking down the railroad track near Hood River I saw a speeder coming. Thinking it was a bunch of linemen I sat down by the track. They stopped when they got up with me. One of them first said: 'That's a fine rifle you have, let's see it,' so I handed it to him so as not to arouse suspicion."

"Immediately he covered me with the gun. They told me to lay down on my stomach and they put the handcuffs on me behind my back. I was told to get up and walk down the track, which I did. I walked faster than they did and they told me to slow up but I would not do it. In a little while the man holding the rifle on me said he would shoot if I didn't stop, but I ran, managing to get away from them. I wandered around until I found an old saw, and succeeded in getting off the handcuffs. Later I got some more guns."

Speaking of his partner, killed by officers near Toledo, Wash., Donnelly said:

"Dale was on the square. He wasn't a crook at all. I don't know whether he had any folks or not, but anyhow, it's better for them to hope he's living than to know he's dead."

Donnelly said he had intended to rob a bank at Marysville and that was the reason he came to Everett on Tuesday night.

OLD HOFFMAN HOUSE TO REGAIN LOST PRESTIGE

EUGENE, Ore., Feb. 12.—The Hoffman House, Eugene's pioneer hotel, for years catering to the best trade, but during the past five years used as a cheap rooming house, will be remodeled and promises to regain its lost prestige. The owners, Mrs. Eugenia Hoffman, Mrs. Helen Hoffman and Mrs. Frederick Swanton, announce that they will expend $10,000 on the building, remodeling it into a first class family hotel, with business rooms on the first floor and suites on the two upper floors.

BOOTLEGGER AT EUGENE PARDED BY GOVERNOR

EUGENE, Ore., Feb. 12.—Ray Littlefield, a local character, who has been in the Lane county jail for eight months, serving a term for bootlegging, was pardoned by Governor West yesterday. He had been sentenced to serve 250 days and had 40 days yet to stay, but as he promised to go to the farm of his father near McCook, he released, a pardon was given him upon condition that he refrain from the use and sale of liquors.

TONIGHT—OREGON THEATRE

The Conscious and Sub-Conscious Mind.

A rare treat in the person of Rev. Dr. Alanson Ira Lucas, Ph. D., the noted psychologist, who will appear in the Oregon theatre on Friday, February 13th, will surprise the most skeptical and benefit the keenest of minds in Pendleton. While there is much beauty in the wonders of nature the wonders of the subconscious mind will lead you into realms divine. Man knows much of every creature but less of himself. He explores continents and forgets to search his innermost mind. The five senses of man are but the first of 15 distinct senses that you should unfurl on this earth. Dr. Lucas can walk, as it were, into your soul and tell you things as though he had known you for 50 years. Tell everybody and go on this "Friday the 13th" lucky day.

COUNTY AGRICULTURIST TO BEGIN HIS DUTIES

EUGENE, Ore., Feb. 12.—F. W. Rader, county agriculturist, recently appointed by the Lane county court at a salary of $1500 a year, has arrived here to take up his duties in assisting the farmers in the best methods of farm work. Mr. Rader is an alumnus of the Washington state college at Pullman, where he graduated in 1908. His work will be the general problems of the farm, and will include dairying, animal husbandry, agronomy, soil work and drainage.

RIDGEFIELD HOPES FOR DEEP RIVER CHANNEL

RIDGEFIELD, Wash., Feb. 12.—A government surveying party came to Ridgefield Monday to make a survey of Lake river, for proposed dredging for a deep waterway from Ridgefield to the Columbia river, a distance of about two miles. Congress recently appropriated funds for this survey, and if a favorable report is given by the engineers, a deep channel from this place to the Columbia river is to be provided.

Protest Removal of Office.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Miss Lucy M. Lewis assistant librarian of the Oregon Agricultural college, called on Senator Chamberlain in route from Europe.

Chamberlain filed with Commissioner Tollman of the land office a batch of protests against abolishment of the Vancouver land office.

Cottolene

Cottolene "creams up" beautifully, always, and every cook knows what an advantage that is. It is always plastic and blends readily with the flour or sugar. This makes Cottolene especially pleasant to use in cakes, pastry, sauces, biscuits and the like.

Have you tried Cottolene yet? If not, do at least test it for yourself. You will then understand some of its many advantages. At the same time, do not forget that food experts advocate this wholesome shortening as reliable, economical and digestible.

SOCIETY

Never in Pendleton has there been a more brilliant or a more beautiful social event than was the reception and dancing party given last evening at the Eastern Oregon State Hospital by Dr. and Mrs. Wilson D. McNary, Dr. and Mrs. Augustus E. Tamsieie and Dr. Rufus H. Hagood to their friends for local society and one that will be difficult to measure up to and impossible to surpass.

While it was the decorative scheme that gave visual beauty to the affair, it was the careful attention which had been given to the appointments and details that took it out of the realm of the commonplace. In this respect it was well-nigh perfect and hosts and hostesses might well have felt as proud as the guests were delighted.

The spacious assembly hall was a scene of artistic loveliness. Evergreens robbed the walls of their bareness, while overhead and at intervals along the wall space were suspended large illuminated hearts in red and green, symbolic of the Valentine season. The stage of the auditorium had been transformed into a garden of tropical luxury. In the background was a forest setting which, in the diffused light, seemed so real and romantic that one almost expected to see fauns and satyrs gambol out of the sylvan recesses when the orchestra struck up some inspiring strains. In the foreground rising out of a grassy turf, while in the center a fountain plashed and played, its crystal waters catching the brilliance of the electric lights and sending it back in a myriad of sparkles. In this verdant spot sat the orchestra of eight pieces and drew from their instruments the strains which invited the dancers to waltz or two-step, tango or Baltimore.

The dancing itself marked a new epoch in things terpsichorean in Pendleton for it introduced for the first time at a formal function the popular dances which are just now claiming world-wide attention. Several tango numbers and hesitation waltzes were interspersed among the other and more familiar dances and their graceful steps were executed beautifully. Never was dancing more enjoyed, never was a setting more entrancing and never were ladies' gowns more in harmony with an occasion.

Several unique features added much to the delight of the affair. In one of the earlier waltzes, the lights were suddenly dimmed and this dimness was succeeded by a dusk that was almost darkness. Then from out of the forest background rose slowly a great orange orb with the face of the old man in the moon silhouetted within it. It spread its mellow glow over the dancers as it rose and provoked them into raptures and applause. As it cleared the trees, it stopped in its ascent and remained suspended in space during the remainder of the evening. Just before the final number, the big double heart which had hung from the center of the ceiling was lowered to the floor and the men were invited forward. They found it filled with paper coils of many hues and these were shot out in long streamers over the throng, producing a pretty effect.

Punch was served during the evening from latticed buffets in the corners of the ballroom and, at the supper dance, the guests were escorted to a room in pink where ice cream and cake were served. Another room had been done in green and invited the gentlemen in to smoke or quench their thirst with sparkling punch. The beautiful corridors of the building were carpeted with rich rugs, and settees, couches and easy chairs were ready to receive the tired dancers. Indeed, so perfect were the appointments that the guests might easily have imagined themselves in some fine palace.

The hostesses and hosts received the guests just within the assembly hall and during the evening they were assisted in their offices by a number of ladies.

Mrs. Arle C. Hampton and her brother, James Bowler, left on the early morning train for Denver in response to a message telling of the death of their mother, Mrs. Samuel Bowler, which occurred yesterday at Fort Worth, Texas, whither she had been taken in the hopes of benefiting her health. Mrs. Bowler visited at the home of her daughter here for several months last spring and made many friends who will be grieved to learn the sad tidings of her death. She had been ill with heart trouble for a number of months and recently underwent an operation which promised for a time to restore her to her normal health.

This afternoon Mrs. Horace Mann, Mrs. William P. Temple and Mrs. Lowell L. Rogers are entertaining at the home of Mrs. Temple on Lewis street with the first of two bridge parties.

Miss Helen Gregg of Boise, a niece of Mrs. C. E. Roosevelt, came over from Walla Walla yesterday to attend the dancing party at the state hospital last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Suhl were among the Pendleton people leaving today for Portland to attend the Shriners' convention.

The Care of Children

Children love to do and make things that are really useful. No toys, however fascinating, are able to compete with the pleasure of being allowed to help make a real cake in the kitchen or to help with the family sewing. Unfortunately, most of us regard their untried efforts far more as a nuisance than as assistance, but with very little supervision they could be taught to be really useful—a valuable training for a child aside from its advantage of keeping him amused and happy.

Why not let the children start the vegetable garden this spring under your direction?

With this idea it would be well to begin on "flats" or boxes for starting vegetables indoors ready for transplantation when the frost is well out of the ground. This means that flats must be started about March first; a little earlier for a southern climate and later for the north.

Any boy or girl who is the least bit handy can make the flat or seed-box. The material consists of pieces of smooth boards, small tacks and a hammer. Grocers' boxes also make good flats when cut down to the proper size, which is about three inches in height. The following dimensions have been found very useful for seed-boxes: Length, 16 inches; width, 6 inches; height, 3 inches.

Home Hints and Recipes

Shoes Don't Crack.
I keep my patent leather shoes looking new and prevent their cracking in the following manner, says a contributor to the Philadelphia North American. Before taking them off my feet I rub a little vasoline on them, leaving it on until I wear the shoes again. This also cleans the shoes.

Vogue of Jet.
Jet is on the crest of fashionable trimmings, says the Philadelphia North American. The new jet will be in light, dainty designs. There will also be heavy centerpieces for light lace groups. Large pieces and motifs, yokes and emplacements will be shown for the early spring dress and wrap.

Peculiar After Effects of Grip This Year

Leaves Kidneys in Weakened Condition

Doctors in all parts of the country have been kept busy with the epidemic of grip which has visited so many homes. The symptoms of grip this year are often very distressing and leave the system in a run down condition, particularly the kidneys which seem to suffer most, as almost every victim complains of lame back and urinary troubles which should not be neglected, as these danger signals often lead to dangerous kidney troubles. Druggists report a large sale of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, which so many people say soon heals and strengthens the kidneys after an attack of grip. Swamp-Root is a great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, and, being an herbal compound, has a gentle healing effect on the kidneys, which is almost immediately noticed in most cases by those who try it. Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., offer to send a sample size bottle of Swamp-Root, on receipt of ten cents, to every sufferer who requests it. A trial will convince any one who may be in need of it. Regular bottles 50 cents and $1.00. For sale at all druggists. Be sure to mention this paper.
